FastForward

The vertical ergonomic mouse that takes speed, comfort and control to the next level.

Ergonomics that feels natural

The FastForward is designed with an angle of inclination of 75° , which automatically puts your hand in a natural, relaxed position. This prevents tension in your hand, wrist and forearm, supports better posture and helps prevent common complaints such as RSI and carpal tunnel syndrome. It feels as natural as shaking hands with someone (but without uncomfortable eye contact). As a result, you don't have to get used to an ergonomic posture for a long time. These ergonomic benefits have been substantiated by research, in which a vertical hand position is linked with less muscle tension (Aarås et al., 2001; Quemelo & Vieira, 2013). Your wrist stays straight and the clicking motion becomes lighter, reducing the force your fingers need to apply.
