audio pickup range and various mounting possibilities.

Excellent image by the 2 Megapixel Sony CMOS sensor and image optimization

With the 2 Megapixel Sony CMOS sensor you are ensured of excellent image quality during a video conference meeting. Because of the wide viewing angle of 105 degrees the camera oversees a large area in the meeting room.

Integrated microphones, noise reduction and echo cancellation for crystal clear audio

Next to excellent video quality, sound quality is of equal importance. The AC7990 camera has two integrated microphones with a 360 degrees audio pickup range up to 5 meters. The microphones have additional features such as noise reduction and echo cancellation for crystal clear audio.

Various mounting possibilities: monitor clamp, suitable for wall and tripod mounting

The AC7990 conference camera can be mounted in various ways. Clamp the camera on top of a monitor or TV with the integrated clamp. Place the camera on the desk. Mount the camera to the wall or place it on a tripod.

Easy controllable via the enclosed remote control

Mute the microphone or electronically zoom in/out, pan, tilt and adjust the settings with the enclosed remote control.

Suitable for the most used video conference applications

Use the camera during video conference meetings with the most common used video chat apps e.g. Teams, Zoom and Google Meet.
