So what is the difference between G-Skates vs G-Floats?

G-Skates are constructed from a soft 100% pure Virgin PTFE that gives you a smooth and controlled glide. They are the industry gold standard, but do tend to wear out over time, especially on certain surfaces.

G-Floats are constructed from a hard, Polished Ceramic compound, tooled to fit their respective Glorious mouse model. These provide an extremely fast and consistent glide. Due to their construction, Float's have an extremely long life-span and do not wear out easily.

The type of mousepad you use could significantly affect the performance of your G-Skates or G-Floats. The table below can give you a general idea (note: this performance may vary between specific brands and surface-materials):
Love using a hard pad but tired of changing out your skates? The unique materials and construction of the G-Floats greatly increases the lifespan. They will almost never wear down, giving you consistently high performance years after your first use.

For gamers who prefer insane speed, G-Floats pair excellent with our Helios pad. Or use it with our cloth pads if you prefer more control.
