The ATEN 2A-245G Cat 6A RJ-45 connector shielded crystal head offers excellent electromagnetic interference protection, supports over 10G data transfer, and meets FCC Part 68 standards. Its reinstallable metal shielding and die-cast RJ-45 design ensure stable transmission and durability with over 750 mating cycles. It's compatible with PoE / POH and works well with various cable types, especially 2L-29330 Cat 6A cables.

This connector allows quick, tool-less installation with color-coded holders and a screw-on metal strain relief boot to prevent bending. Supporting cable gauges from 22 to 26 AWG, it's versatile for different networks. It complies with RoHS / REACH standards and includes an IP20 dust cover for added protection.
