The Lanberg network adapter provides reliable connectivity through its OM3 compliant standards. Designed with fiber optic technology, this adapter features LC/UPC multi-mode connectors on both ends, ensuring optimal signal transmission and minimal insertion loss of 0.15 dB. The durable construction makes it suitable for various applications, meeting the demands of environments with operating temperatures ranging from -40°C to 85°C. Equipped with a ferrule diameter of 1.25 mm and a core/cladding diameter of 50/125 micron, this duplex cable allows for effective data transfer. The female connectors on both sides streamline use in compatible devices. Whether for industrial use or networking in residential settings, this adapter meets diverse needs with reliability.
