The Lanberg CAT 6 patch cable is designed for reliable network connections with impressive performance. Featuring a tested frequency of up to 250 MHz, this cable supports high-speed data transmission, ideal for various networking environments. The use of Copper-Clad Aluminium (CCA) conductors and HDPE insulation enhances durability while ensuring optimal signal integrity. This patch cable's snagless design prevents damage to the connectors, and the molded ends facilitate easy handling. The length indication feature allows users to easily identify the cable length, making organization and setup straightforward. Compliant with ANSI/TIA/EIA 568-B standards, this cable integrates seamlessly into existing systems.
