The Lanberg patch cable is engineered for performance and reliability, making it an essential component for any network setup. With S/FTP technology and a CAT 6a classification, this cable supports tested frequencies up to 500 MHz, ensuring fast and stable connections. The aluminum foil with braid shielding minimizes interference, while the molded, snagless design promotes durability and easy handling in tight spaces. Packaged in a string bag, this cable features halogen-free materials for added safety in various environments. Whether used at home or in professional settings, this patch cable meets ANSI/TIA/EIA 568-B standards, making it a reliable choice for networking tasks.
