Stunning Visuals, Incredible Versatility

ASUS ZenBeam E1R mini projector redefines portable entertainment. It features USB Type-A port connection for both Android and iOS devices and also automatic portrait projection* mode that lets users change the projector's orientation while in use so they can easily enjoy social media content and livestreams on a bigger screen. And there's no need to tinker with settings — because the black sidebars are automatically removed as the projected image smoothly transitions from horizontal to vertical orientation.

*Only available during using USB Type-A connection.

Enlarge Your Entertainment

ZenBeam E1R is able to project up to 100-inch WVGA (854 x 480) imagery for big-screen thrills, even in confined spaces. It also supports FHD content and its 200-LED-lumens light source provides up to a 30,000-hour lifespan. Auto vertical keystone correction ensures perfect projections every time, while a built-in threaded socket ensures compatibility with standard tripods.

Universal Connectivity

HDMI® port ensures compatibility with a wide range of input sources. The USB Type-A port ensure a mobile phone connection, and can also be used to charge devices(5V/1A). The USB Type-C port is for DC-in.

Award-winning Zen-inspired design

Catering to the stylish on-the-go traveler, ASUS ZenBeam E1R weighs only 300g and has ultra-compact dimensions of 84 x 29 x 108mm. The Zen-inspired design, with its understated aesthetic and spun-metal finish on the lens cap, recently helped ZenBeam E1R win both an iF Product Design and a Red Dot Design.

Built-In Battery for Added Convenience

The battery provides up to four hours of video playback* on a single charge — more than enough for a full-length feature film or long presentations. ZenBeam E1R can also act as a portable power source, charging other devices via its USB Type-A port.

*Based in Low mode usage

2-Watt Speaker for Clear, Powerful Audio

The built-in 2-watt speaker with ASUS SonicMaster technology offers amazing audio that perfectly complements any viewing experience.
