TIMEKETTLE W4 Pro Translation Earbuds

Conversations in a foreign language, phone calls, and online meetings can be smooth and stress-free with real-time translation and clear subtitles exactly when you need them. Timekettle W4 Pro translation earbuds support international work and communication by recording audio and text from conversations, while advanced microphones ensure clear voice quality even in noisy environments. Touchless, private translation allows you to focus on the conversation, and extensive language support—even offline—gives you freedom in any situation. The comfortable open design makes the device comfortable to use all day long, regardless of location or context.

Designed for translating remote conversations and meetings

W4 Pro is a pioneering solution designed specifically for translating phone calls and online meetings. During international calls, the headphones automatically capture the other party's speech, translate it bidirectionally, and display subtitles in real time. Importantly, the other party does not need any additional devices or applications. Every word is simultaneously recorded, translated, and transcribed, allowing you to return to the conversation at any time and analyze it in detail.

Online meetings with subtitles and smart notes

TIMEKETTLE W4 Pro is perfect for video conferences and online meetings on your smartphone or tablet. The headphones translate participants' statements in real time, displaying clear subtitles and allowing you to quickly record key information. This is a huge help in international teams, where precision, speed, and full understanding of agreements are important, regardless of the language spoken by the participants.

Fast multimedia translation

W4 Pro allows you to translate audio and video content played on your phone, tablet, or computer. Movies, podcasts, streaming services, and foreign news become instantly accessible thanks to real-time translation and displayed subtitles. It is a tool for people who want to stay up to date with global information and enjoy foreign content without language barriers.

Precise sound and better speech recognition

An advanced three-microphone system with noise reduction is responsible for the exceptional translation quality. This technology and CVC algorithms effectively eliminate ambient noise and prevent sound leakage, ensuring clear voice recording even when talking next to other people. As a result, the speech recognition error rate has been reduced by as much as 50% compared to previous generations of headphones, which directly translates into more accurate and natural translations.

Modes designed for global business

TIMEKETTLE W4 Pro offers various working scenarios tailored to the needs of professionals. The simultaneous translation mode for one-on-one conversations enables natural conversation without delays or language barriers. Listen & Play mode facilitates dynamic discussions during face-to-face meetings and multilingual conferences, allowing you to switch freely between listening and speaking. Multimedia mode, on the other hand, gives you access to movies, podcasts, and broadcasts in foreign languages with live subtitles.

Natural conversation without touching your phone

Two-way translation channels allow for smooth conversation in both languages simultaneously, without artificial interruptions or unnatural pauses. Translation is completely touchless – no need to reach for your phone or control the app, allowing you to focus solely on the conversation. What's more, only you can hear the translation, so the confidentiality of your business and private conversations is fully preserved.

Global language coverage and offline operation

TIMEKETTLE W4 Pro headphones support online translation in 43 languages and 96 accents, covering approximately 85% of the world's population. The device copes perfectly with dialectal and regional differences, facilitating communication in various environments. In addition, 13 language pairs are available in offline mode, allowing you to use translation even when you don't have access to the internet.

Full control over conversation content

W4 Pro records both the original audio and its translation, allowing for later comparison and detailed analysis of the meeting. You can also create your own dictionary of industry and specialized terms, tailoring translations to a specific business context. This solution increases precision, eliminates misunderstandings, and gives translations a personal touch.

Comfortable design for all-day use

The innovative open design means that the headphones are not placed inside the ear, which increases comfort, makes it easier to share the device, and improves hygiene. At the same time, they provide clear sound even in noisy environments, with minimal sound leakage to the outside. This keeps conversations private and makes wearing the headphones for hours natural and comfortable.
