The Lanberg CAT 6a patch cable is designed for optimized network performance, featuring S/FTP technology that minimizes interference for a reliable connection. Constructed with Copper-Clad Aluminium (CCA) conductors and HDPE conductor insulation, this cable provides long-lasting durability and efficiency. The low smoke zero halogen jacket ensures safety in environments where smoke and toxicity are concerns, making it suitable for various installations.
Each cable is equipped with molded, snagless connectors for easy handling and enhanced protection against damage during installation. The RJ-45 connectors on both ends secure a stable connection, while the halogen-free design adds to the overall safety profile. With a tested frequency of up to 500 MHz and compliance with recognized standards, this patch cable fulfills the requirements for high-speed data networking.
