A4tech Bloody M595 is a wired gaming headset designed to deliver immersive, game-focused audio and clear voice communication for long play sessions. Large 50 mm drivers and a full-range frequency response provide detailed sound for in-game effects and music, while a uni-directional boom microphone with noise-canceling helps keep voice chat clear and focused. The headset connects via a 4-pin USB Type-A plug for straightforward setup and includes in-cord volume control for quick adjustments during gameplay, making it a practical choice for competitive and casual gamers alike.
