A4tech Bloody MR710 is a gaming headset designed for players who need flexible connectivity and clear in-game communication. It supports both Bluetooth 5.3 and a 2.4 GHz radio frequency link for low-latency wireless play, and also offers a wired 3.5 mm connection for console or mobile use. The uni-directional boom microphone with noise-canceling helps capture voice clearly while foam-padded headband and on-ear 50 mm hybrid diaphragm drivers deliver focused audio and comfortable extended wear. A built-in LED backlight, integrated playback and call controls, and a rechargeable battery with fast recharge time provide convenient control and reliable runtime for gaming sessions up to typical wireless ranges of about 12 m.
