The Breyta comfort seat cushion is designed to reduce fatigue and discomfort caused by extended sitting with its dual foam densities that provide both comfort and support. It helps promote ergonomic posture by increasing sitting height, making it ideal for use at your workstation, home, or office. A discreet hidden coccyx cutout at the back of the cushion relieves pressure at the base of the spine. For added convenience, the seat cushion includes a built-in carry handle for easy transport. Sustainability is also a key feature, with the base layer foam made from 93% pre-consumer recycled content, the top layer foam containing post-consumer recycled content from mattresses, and the fabric cover crafted from 100% post-consumer recycled polyester.
