PanzerGlass™ Sony Xperia XZ3 screen protector with Curved Edges represents the most advanced protection and finish available. A PanzerGlass™ screen protector with curved edges has the same core features as the original PanzerGlass™ but has undergone a heating and bending process in order to match the curves from the original phone which will help optimise impact protection around the more vulnerable corners and edges.

Our PanzerGlass™ Curved glass screen protectors have full frame fit and come in a variety of colours matching either the original design of the device or an individual personal preference. It features an optimised adhesive and anti-shatter film.
