The Fellowes CableSpine offers a sleek and practical solution for managing cables in modern workspaces. Designed to streamline cable organisation from the floor to your desktop, it helps maintain a tidy and distraction-free environment. Its flexible structure is ideal for height-adjustable desks, smoothly extending and retracting as your desk moves-accommodating setups up to 130cm tall. Inside, four separate channels keep cables neatly sorted and prevent tangling, while the open design makes it easy to add or remove cables as needed. With 31 modular segments, you can customise the spine’s height to suit your specific desk configuration. A weighted base ensures the spine stays upright and stable, while a built-in magnet discreetly secures it to your desk leg, keeping cables out of sight and out of the way. Installation is quick and hassle-free, with both magnetic and screw mounting options included for your convenience.
