One motherbase for all your drives

Club Case 2925 replaces numerous devices by bringing different types of storage together in one single station. Use two M.2 SSDs and two 2.5"/3.5" SSDs or HDDs at the same time, without switching between multiple enclosures. This keeps your desk cleaner and your setup simpler. It’s made for you if you regularly work with both modern NVMe drives and classic SATA drives.

You are in control

Turn your drives on and off as you wish: thanks to the individual power switches for each slot, you do not need to shut down the whole system when swapping drives. It’s also handy when you only need one or 2 drives and want to keep the others powered off. Over time, this helps reduce unnecessary wear. You stay in full control of what’s active.

Fast, Faster, USB-C

With a USB-C connection and transfer speeds of up to 10 Gbps, large files move quickly between your drives and computer. This makes a big difference when handling backups, video files, or project folders. You spend less time waiting and more time actually working on what you love.
