

Logitech Rally Mic Pod Extension Cable - OFF-WHITE - USB WW-9004 - 10M EXTENSION CABLE

Model: 952-000047

Manufacturer: LOGITECH

EAN: 097855167675

Product Code: 1577222

R4,039

Gain 10 meters of reach with the new extension cable!

The microphone panel extension cable for the Rally is an excellent solution for those looking to extend the range of their audio system. With an additional 10 meters in length, users can freely adjust the layout of microphones and hubs, resulting in greater flexibility in space arrangement. This product is characterized not only by high-quality workmanship but also by certification for use in expansion chambers and ECA certification, making it an ideal choice for commercial installations. Its

The product information provided is for reference purposes only. Technical specifications, photos, descriptions and prices may change without prior notice. The manufacturer and seller are not responsible for possible data discrepancies or typographical errors. We recommend checking the current information before purchasing.

itworkup.co.za | sales@itworkup.co.za | +27 (11)541-9950

application in various spaces, such as walls, ceilings, or standard 19 mm cable channels, allows for easy and safe cable management, ensuring reliability and long-lasting use in professional conditions.

Seamless cable connections up to 20 meters with the Rally panel

The Rally and Rally Mini panels are innovative solutions that enable flexible and convenient connections in various configurations. With the ability to connect two cables, users can enjoy a total extension of up to 20 meters, making them perfect for spaces requiring greater reach. Whether you need them in the office, at an event, or in a home studio, these panels offer not only functionality but also high-quality workmanship. This ensures that every presentation or meeting gains a professional character, giving you confidence that your connections are solid and reliable.

Optimal use of Rally panels in your office

The Rally and Rally Plus microphone panels are innovative solutions that redefine how meetings and presentations are conducted. By allowing the extension cable to be connected directly to the table hub, users gain flexibility in adapting larger spaces to their needs. This is an excellent option for companies and institutions that require efficient audio solutions in various configurations. High sound quality and intuitive operation ensure that every meeting participant can focus on what matters most, rather than on technical details. Introducing Rally technology into the office is a step towards modernity and comfort in communication.

The product information provided is for reference purposes only. Technical specifications, photos, descriptions and prices may change without prior notice. The manufacturer and seller are not responsible for possible data discrepancies or typographical errors. We recommend checking the current information before purchasing.

itworkup.co.za | sales@itworkup.co.za | +27 (11)541-9950