

Dahua Technology Lite NVR2108HS- 4KS3 network video recorder 1U Black

Model: NVR2108HS-4KS3

Manufacturer: DAHUA

EAN: 6923172575548

Product Code: 1578400

R2,845

This compact 1U network video recorder supports up to 8 channels and is equipped with a single HDD slot, allowing for efficient storage management. It is designed to record and manage video feeds from multiple cameras simultaneously, supporting resolutions up to 4K for high-quality video output. The device features H.265 and H.264 compression technologies, which help in reducing bandwidth and storage requirements while maintaining video quality.

The model includes multiple video detection methods such as motion detection, tampering alarms, and video loss alerts, enhancing the security capabilities of the system. It also offers smart search and intelligent video system functionalities for advanced video analysis. Connectivity options include HDMI and VGA outputs, enabling direct connection to various display devices.

The product information provided is for reference purposes only. Technical specifications, photos, descriptions and prices may change without prior notice. The manufacturer and seller are not responsible for possible data discrepancies or typographical errors. We recommend checking the current information before purchasing.

itworkup.co.za | sales@itworkup.co.za | +27 (11)541-9950

With its compact design, this recorder is suitable for small to medium-sized installations where space is limited but high-resolution video recording is necessary. It operates efficiently within a wide temperature range and has low power consumption, making it suitable for continuous operation in diverse environments.