Yealink AVHub is a meeting audio and video processor used in large/extra-large conference rooms/conference fields. AVHub supports multi-camera, multi-microphone, and multi-speaker, and combined with audio and video processing capability, AVHub can release PC performance. In addition, cameras, microphones, and speakers can be directly connected to the AVHub through the network cable PoE, reducing wiring and managing video and audio equipment uniformly. Users can adjust the camera layout with the Yealink plug-in before or even in MTR meetings when using the AVHub.
