The equip® 125452 delivers a single-port IP66-rated weatherproof keystone surface mount solution engineered for the most demanding outdoor network installations, where full protection against dust ingress and powerful water jets is required. Its rugged enclosure and rubber gasket sealing effectively safeguard installed keystone modules against rain, dust, and harsh environmental conditions for reliable long-term outdoor performance.

The single standard keystone port accepts RJ45 network jacks, fiber adapters, or multimedia connectors, enabling customized connectivity for outdoor wireless access points, IP cameras, building exteriors, and industrial networking systems. The semi-transparent hinged cover with latch closure and flush mounting design with cable entries ensures secure, tamper-resistant protection while allowing quick visual status checks without opening the enclosure.

Rated to IP66 — the highest weatherproof rating in this series — the 125452 measures 108 × 150 × 96 mm and provides a professional, organized single-port outdoor connection point that protects
