The Cat.6A S/FTP Outdoor Patch Cable is designed to deliver high-speed data transmission with superior shielding, making it ideal for outdoor and industrial applications. Engineered with robust materials, this cable is built to withstand extreme weather conditions, UV exposure, and temperature fluctuations, ensuring long-lasting performance in demanding environments.

Featuring advanced S/FTP shielding, the cable minimizes crosstalk and electromagnetic interference, ensuring a stable and reliable connection for data-intensive applications such as video streaming, gaming, and cloud computing. Its 10Gbps bandwidth capacity supports high-speed networking across long distances, making it suitable for commercial and residential outdoor setups.

The cable’s durable outer jacket is resistant to moisture and abrasion, providing extra protection against environmental wear and tear. Its snagless design facilitates easy installation and prevents damage during deployment. Whether for outdoor surveillance systems, IoT devices, or networking projects, the Cat.6A S/FTP Outdoor Patch Cable offers a dependable solution for uninterrupted
