version with a matching partner of the same caliber: the STREAM mouse.

A reliable dream team with a coherent concept

With this new wireless duo you can’t go wrong. The pair complement each other in both design and technology. We didn't just throw a mouse onto the side of the STREAM keyboard, but developed one that fits the aesthetic and feels great with it. It looks just as good and is just as quiet when clicked as the STREAM keyboard. And they're both incredibly reliable, durable and built to last. Whether in the office or when working from home. You see, this is not just any duo, but one with a coherent concept.

Typing with a feel-good factor

What makes a keyboard a really good keyboard? When it not only looks good, but also feels good when writing and typing at speed: very little noise, precise pressure points, the very best typing experience. Thanks to the high-quality and particularly precise CHERRY SX scissor technology, the STREAM keyboard offers you a new typing experience.

Enjoy the click of silence.
All good things come in sixes! That's because the STREAM mouse has not three, but six buttons — and a 3-position adjustable DPI switch. Silent switches are built in under the buttons. They are chosen so that the Silent click is particularly quiet. To ensure that the mouse is as sophisticated as its keyboard partner, its ergonomics have also been meticulously tested. Large or small, right or left — the mouse fits in all hands.

Writing a lot has never been so much fun…

With the new CHERRY STREAM DESKTOP, your fingers can easily get to work. Flat keys, precise touch, faster typing — and the chance to get more done. The keyboard is perfect for those who type a lot and who highly value comfort when working.

Thanks to CHERRY’s high quality standards, the STREAM mouse and keyboard deliver the reliability you are used to. In addition to their high degree of design and technology, they are also top quality. The integrated metal plate and the stable support feet ensure that the keyboard stays firmly in position on your table, and does not slip with every touch. This duo will be a real joy to work with for a long time, as they are durable and high quality products.
