GLM 50-22 Professional: Further information

Product Highlights

The GLM 50-22 Professional withstands rough conditions on construction sites. Its IP65 design provides complete protection from dust particles and jets of water, while its shock-absorbing housing brings 1.5-m drop resistance even on hard concrete. With a customisable button, favourite measurement functions or settings can be defined. Its intuitive user interface supports 30 languages and consists of a colour display and Big Numbers Mode for better readability. For self-explaining usage it features a new help function that shows all measurement options.

Equipment & Application

For electricians, HVAC installers, and plumbers, it is ideal when placing and fitting elements on wood, general, or drywall constructions. When used for finishing, it is perfect for painters, floor layers, tilers, or carpenters to calculate material needs.
