Security through emergency power

An APC Back-UPS has a built-in battery that ensures that all connected equipment, such as a NAS, router, modem and media box, continues to work if the power goes out. In addition, this APC emergency power supply can also automatically shut down a NAS or PC in time via the USB connection. Useful when the APC ups is almost empty. This prevents downtime, damage to equipment, and loss of data.

Safety

In addition, this safe APC Back-UPS protects valuable equipment against peak voltage caused by lightning strikes, for example.
