The AeroCool P500A is a mid-tower case for builders who demand total control, featuring tool-free removable panels on all sides and strategic dust filters to keep airflow pure and maintenance easy. With support for reverse connector motherboards, an airflow-optimized PSU shroud, reinforced with a GPU support bracket, and up to 9 fan slots, this case is primed for next-level performance and reliability.
Finished with dual curved glass front and side panels, the P500A blends elite cooling with showcase aesthetics.

Hidden Cable Magic

Designed for mainstream BTF reverse connector motherboards to route cables behind the motherboard tray. Enjoy a clean, professional look with uninterrupted component visibility and easier airflow.

Massive Cooling Capacity

Supports up to nine total fans to deliver outstanding cooling potential for high-performance systems. Whether you’re gaming, editing, or overclocking, your system stays cool under pressure.

Dust-Free Design

Removable nylon filters on the top and bottom keep out dust while allowing smooth airflow. Maintenance stays simple while your components stay cleaner, longer.

Adjustable GPU Support Bracket

The built-in adjustable GPU support bracket secures heavy graphics cards and prevents long-term sag. Customize the height to fit your setup perfectly and protect your investment with confidence.
