Digital microscope with USB interface with x500 magnification

For work and play. Useful for presentations and lectures. A microscope with its own illumination in the form of 8 LEDs. There is light intensity control on the cable. Thanks to the USB interface, we can connect it to a computer and see the observation results clearly on the monitor. The small, pocket size of the microscope means that we can take it with us anywhere with a laptop.

The magnification depends on the smooth adjustment of the microscope knob and is between x50 and x500! The microscope allows you to take high-contrast photos after interpolation at a resolution of 6324x4742ppi. We can also make movies. All thanks to the software included on the CD.
