Gembird Fornax 160 is a mid-tower PC chassis designed for custom builds that require flexible component compatibility and practical cooling. The case accommodates a wide range of motherboard sizes, offers room for long graphics cards and tall CPU coolers, and provides front panel USB and audio connectivity for everyday convenience. With multiple fan mounts, front bays for storage, and steel plus ABS construction, the chassis supports a balanced combination of airflow, expandability, and durable everyday use. Note that a power supply is not included, allowing selection of a compatible ATX unit to suit the build.
