The Gembird PP6-1M 1M CAT 6 patch cable is designed to provide reliable network connectivity for various applications. Featuring a shielded design with foil shielding material, this patch cable reduces interference, ensuring optimal data transmission for your networking needs. With both connectors being RJ-45 male, it meets the demand for high-speed connections while maintaining a durable structure through its molded and stranded cable features. Built using 24 AWG wires and complemented by gold-plated connectors, this cable supports high performance, ensuring longevity and stability in data transfer. Compliant with UL, VDE, ISO 9002, RoHS, and WEEE standards, this cable is suitable for various environments and ensures adherence to safety and environmental regulations. The robust construction and reliable performance make it a versatile choice for home, office, or professional use.
