The Lanview Bendable series is designed for flexible cable management, able to bend and hold any angle from a straight line to 90 degrees. The boot, shaped over a single stainless-steel wire, can be effortlessly positioned by hand, while the internal wire guarantees it retains the chosen angle or direction.

the boot can be reshaped at any time or straightened for connector disconnect. This enables perfect installation of the connector in unique applications such as, tight constraint areas or high density environments.
