Tired of your headphones being put away in random places and don't want to risk damaging them? We designed the GENESIS Thulium 100 with the safety of your equipment in mind. This sturdy stand consisting of a base, an aluminum shaft and a molded, soft pad will allow you to take care of your headphones like never before. What's more, its suitable height makes it easy to place your headset on it in such a way that its microphone does not rub against the surface of the tabletop. The width of the profiled cap is also not without significance, thanks to which you can hang most models available on the market on the GENESIS Thulium 100.

A CONSTRUCTION THAT WORKS EVERYWHERE

Compactness is one of the greatest strengths of the GENESIS Thulium 100. With its dimensions (245 x 100 x 100 mm) and subdued design, you will easily blend it into your space. Small, medium, large - the size of your desk doesn't matter, GENESIS Thulium 100 is the perfect addition to any workstation.

FULL STABILITY

You do not have to worry about the stability of the GENESIS Thulium 100. We equipped this model with silicone pads located on the bottom. They prevent the stand from moving on its own and protect the surface of your tabletop from scratches. We also focused our attention on the aluminum handle. Its attachment and the materials used make it not move from side to side, ensuring full safety of your headphones.

QUICK AND EASY INSTALLATION

Assembling the GENESIS Thulium 100 can be handled by both less and more experienced people. All thanks to its simple 3-part design and tool-free assembly. It only takes a few seconds to enjoy its full functionality. It's really simple.
