GUARANTEE OF STABILITY

At GENESIS, we know how important stability is in choosing a good tripod. In the case of the Thulium 350D, it is provided by a heavy, balanced and non-slip base. This ensures that the microphone will stand in one place, minimizing the risk of unwanted vibrations and shifts that can disrupt your recordings. Whether you're podcasting or broadcasting live, the Thulium 350D gives you peace of mind that the microphone will be kept in the right position.

FULL VERSATILITY

The tripod is equipped with a 3/8" thread, which is standard on many professional microphones. In addition, you'll find a 5/8" adapter included, making it also compatible with other microphones on the market, as well as other audio/video accessories. Such versatility allows you to easily adapt the tripod to different models, making it an ideal solution for years to come, even thinking about replacing the microphone in the future.

TAILORED TO YOUR NEEDS

With a large height adjustment range of 20 to 32 centimeters, the Thulium 350D tripod makes it easy to adjust to your individual needs, giving you full control over microphone positioning. Adjust its height according to your recording type, convenience or preference and enjoy perfect sound quality every time.

THE BEST COMPANION FOR ANY MICROPHONE

The Thulium 350D stand is primarily dedicated to dynamic microphones, which are very popular among podcasters and streamers, but thanks to its solid base it will also work well with heavier condenser microphones. So whether you're using a dynamic or condenser microphone, the Thulium 350D will be the perfect pair for either.

ESSENTIAL ACCESSORIES IN THE BOX

You'll find two Velcro straps that make it easy to manage the cable attached to the microphone. Thanks to them, the cable stays in place, which minimizes the risk of tangling and improves the aesthetics of your setup. It's a simple solution for keeping your desk tidy, further enhancing your gaming, streaming or recording experience.
