Clear identification and safety are critical for any electrical or datacom installation, including danger and warning signs, switch gear, electrical wires, consumer units, patch panels, racks and cabinets, CAT5E / CAT6A network cabling and more. The PT-E920BT CUBE Pro labelling machine is compact, portable, and packed with features designed to make on-site labelling faster and easier than ever. With built-in Bluetooth, users can design and print labels on-demand directly from a smartphone or PC, and the lightweight design ensures ease-of-portability from one job to the next. Compatible with Brother's industrial Pro Tapes to produce durable labels that provide resistance to water, chemicals, extreme temperatures and abrasion in the toughest environments.
