The Natec Prati is designed to ensure seamless connectivity for your devices. This Lightning cable features a 24-pin USB-C connector on one end and an Apple Lightning connector on the other, allowing for fast charging and reliable data transfer. Constructed from thermoplastic elastomer (TPE), this cable provides long-lasting use while delivering up to 20 W of power. The Natec Prati supports MFi compliance, ensuring compatibility with Apple devices. Single shielded technology enhances signal integrity while the copper and tin plated connectors contribute to efficient performance. Experience convenient sync and charge functionality with this versatile cable, ideal for everyday use.
