The Lanberg CAT 6a patch cable offers reliable connectivity for high-speed network applications. Constructed with Copper-Clad Aluminium conductors and aluminum foil with braid shielding, this cable ensures minimal interference while delivering up to 500 MHz tested frequency. The low smoke zero halogen jacket material makes it a safe choice for environments where fire safety is crucial. With a molded, snagless design and stranded structure, this cable facilitates easy handling and ensures durability for long-term use. The included string bag package adds convenience for storage and transport.
