LiberNovo StepSync Footrest for Omni SE

The LiberNovo StepSync for Omni SE is an ergonomic footrest designed specifically for the LiberNovo Omni SE chair, which enhances comfort during long hours of desk work and rest. The ergonomic 10° angle supports proper leg positioning and improves circulation, helping to reduce fatigue. Two available heights allow the footrest to be adjusted to suit users ranging from 153 to 185 cm in height, and the ability to use it while the chair is reclined up to 160° ensures comfort both while working and relaxing.

Greater comfort and better ergonomics

The footrest provides stable support for the feet, helping to maintain a more ergonomic sitting position. Even distribution of body weight reduces pressure on the sitting bones, buttocks, thighs, and the back of the knees, while promoting proper circulation. It's a practical solution for people who spend many hours at the computer.

Comfort Even While Resting

StepSync works well not only while working but also while relaxing. When combined with the LiberNovo Omni SE chair's 160° recline, it provides comfortable leg support, allowing you to assume a position reminiscent of weightlessness. The stable base keeps the footrest securely in place, ensuring comfort in any situation.

Durable materials and height adjustability

The footrest is made of a flexible, microstructured fabric and a durable base constructed from aerospace-grade materials, ensuring durability and comfort for everyday use. Two available height settings allow you to adjust the footrest to your height, increasing comfort and promoting an ergonomic sitting position.
