Neewer wide angle lens for Sony ZV1 (black)

The Neewer 2-in-1 Wide Angle Lens for Sony ZV1 turns a standard 24mm lens into an 18mm lens, allowing for a wider angle of view. This is ideal for those who want to capture more detail in the frame, which is especially useful when shooting landscapes, architecture or large groups of people. To get the full benefits, the lens should be used together with a macro lens.

Macro close-ups at the highest level

Turn your standard photos into detailed macro shots by transforming the original ZV1 lens into a 10x macro lens. Simply unscrew the wide-angle lens counterclockwise to use the macro lens itself. This is perfect for those who want to capture the smallest details up close, such as insects, plants or other small objects.

Professional extension for perfect quality

The built-in spring in the extension tube makes it an ideal choice for macro photography. By moving the conversion lens away from the camera sensor, it is possible to achieve higher magnification without compromising image quality. It is an indispensable tool for professionals who expect the highest quality macro photography.

High-quality optical glass and nano coating

The Neewer lens is characterized by the use of high-quality optical glass and a multi-layer nano coating, which restores natural colors and eliminates noise. The lens frame is made of anodized aluminum and precision-machined using CNC technology to ensure a perfect fit with the original lens. The coatings reduce glare and internal reflections for high-resolution images.

Ease of use and mobility

Mounting the lens is extremely easy. Simply attach the bayonet mount to the ZV1 camera and tighten it with the included L-shaped allen wrench. Then attach the extension tube to the mount and screw the lens onto the tube. A handy carrying case is also included for easy storage and transportation of the lens.
