NEEWER SR004 Universal Shoulder Mount

The NEEWER SR004 is a compact and versatile shoulder mount that provides enhanced stability while filming and ensures comfort even during long filming sessions. The design features detachable and adjustable components—including 15mm rails, handles, a mounting base, and a shoulder pad—allowing the entire rig to be easily customized to your needs and conveniently transported. This model is ideal for DSLR cameras, mirrorless cameras, compact camcorders, or telephoto lenses, offering a maximum load capacity of up to 5 kg.

Universal Base and Extensive Expansion Options

The mount is equipped with a universal base plate featuring numerous 1/4" and 3/8" threads, ensuring compatibility with most camera rigs and photography accessories. The design allows for direct mounting of a camera or camcorder, as well as easy expansion with additional equipment such as a monitor, LED lighting, a magic arm, or a follow focus system. The 15mm rails offer additional mounting space at the front and rear, making it easier to configure the equipment for advanced filmmaking applications.

Comfortable Grips and Ergonomic Shoulder Support

Two rotating handles with a soft silicone finish ensure a secure grip and comfort during handheld recording. The adjustable distance between the grips and 360° rotation allow you to easily adapt the setup to your working style and filming conditions. User comfort is further enhanced by an ergonomic shoulder pad made of flexible foam, which helps reduce fatigue and allows for better balancing of the rig by adjusting the center of gravity.
