The use of InLine® dust protection components enables you to protect device ports and cable contacts from dust and dirt and thus ensure a longer service life for your products. Dust and dirt that enters devices through unused ports, for example, tends to cling to and collect on the internal components, which can lead to short circuits or malfunctions. Particularly useful for protecting TVs, LCD, TFT and OLED screens and displays in audio/video (A/V) systems, digital signage, digital signage, video walls or professional digital signage in public environments such as offices, train stations, airports, stadiums, squares, etc.
