The adjustable roll-top design provides greater flexibility for everyday use. Depending on how much you're carrying, you can increase the backpack's capacity to 30 liters or reduce it to 25 liters. This makes the Navigator-T61 ideal for both a standard day at work or school, as well as short trips when you need extra space for clothes and accessories.

Convenient organization of gear and accessories

The spacious main compartment features additional pockets that make it easy to store cables, chargers, and other essential accessories. A separate, padded tech compartment safely holds a laptop up to 17.3 inches and a tablet, protecting your devices during transport. Thanks to the well-thought-out interior layout, all your essentials stay organized and easily accessible.

Quick access to essentials

A special design with rear access allows you to quickly reach for necessary items or devices without having to open the entire backpack. This practical solution is especially useful while traveling, at airports, or on public transportation. Additionally, waterproof zippers help protect the contents from moisture and rain.

Practical pockets for everyday use

The front pocket, lined with soft material, allows for safe storage of glasses, protecting them from scratches. The side pocket features a quick-access lanyard for keys, keeping them within easy reach. An additional side pocket allows you to conveniently carry a water bottle or other handy accessories.

Durable construction made from recycled materials

The backpack is made from 1680D recycled polyester, which is highly resistant to daily wear and tear. The material effectively protects the contents from splashes and light rain, and the sturdy construction helps the backpack retain its shape even when it's not fully packed. The use of recycled materials also represents a more responsible approach to resource use.

An adjustable chest strap improves the backpack’s stability while walking and moving around. Soft shoulder straps and a breathable back panel increase carrying comfort even with heavier loads. An additional convenience is a strap that allows you to attach the backpack to a suitcase handle, which significantly makes traveling easier.
